

Welcome to ECOC 2025 in Copenhagen

ECOC, the European Conference on Optical Communication, stands as Europe's premier gathering for optical communication, holding a prominent position as one of the globe's most significant events in this field. This conference unites pioneers and professionals from academia, research, and industry, fostering the exchange of cutting-edge discoveries and future-oriented perspectives.

At ECOC, you'll find an optimal environment to enrich your knowledge, engage in dynamic discussions, and forge valuable connections. Its scope spans from the fundamental materials and devices enabling optical communication to the intricate systems and networks employing these technologies.

The ECOC Exhibition, in existence for nearly three decades, has evolved into Europe's largest optical communication exhibition. It serves as a pivotal hub where industry leaders convene, making it a cornerstone for decision-makers in the fiber optic communications technology sector.
